ABOUT SEE TRACKS?

THINK TRAIN® WEEK 2024

See Tracks? Think Train® Week 2024, formerly known as Rail Safety Week, was observed from September 23 to 29, 2024, successfully engaging communities across the United States with the lifesaving rail safety education message.

Operation Lifesaver, Inc. (OLI), Operation Lifesaver Canada and the Mexican Association of Railroads (AMF) joined forces to educate the public and prevent tragedies around tracks and trains.

Known as See Tracks? Think Train® Week in the U.S. and Rail Safety Week in Canada and Mexico, the week-long observance focused on raising awareness, educating the public and saving lives. Since its launch eight years ago in the U.S., the initiative has concentrated public attention on the importance of rail safety education and empowered the public to make safe choices around tracks and trains.

Through coordinated events, public awareness campaigns, impactful videos, public service announcements (PSAs) and strategic social media outreach, OLI, State Coordinators and partners worked together to educate the public and prevent railroad crossing and trespass incidents, emphasizing the critical importance of rail safety education.

THANK YOU TO OUR SAFETY PARTNERS ACROSS THE NATION AND THROUGHOUT NORTH AMERICA WHO JOINED OLI IN HIGHLIGHTING RAIL SAFETY EDUCATION IN THEIR COMMUNITIES BOTH IN PERSON AND ON SOCIAL MEDIA SHARING CONTENT, CREATING CONTENT AND PRODUCING SOCIAL VIDEOS SHARING THE RAIL SAFETY EDUCATION MESSAGE LEADING UP TO AND THROUGHOUT SEE TRACKS? THINK TRAIN® WEEK.

"WE ARE SO GRATEFUL TO OUR PARTNERS ACROSS THE U.S. AND INTERNATIONALLY FOR JOINING US IN A CONCENTRATED WEEK OF RAIL SAFETY EDUCATION ACTIVITIES. TOGETHER, WE SUCCESSFULLY EMPOWERED COMMUNITIES TO PRIORITIZE THEIR SAFETY AROUND TRACKS AND TRAINS AND REINFORCED OUR SHARED COMMITMENT TO SAVING LIVES."

& PSAs

Two powerful videos and Public Service Announcements (PSAs) debuted during See Tracks? Think Train® Week joining OLI's ongoing Stop Track Tragedies public awareness campaign.

#STOPTrackTragedies educates the public on the importance of making safe choices around tracks and trains. The campaign features emotional, often heartbreaking real-life stories from families, friends and survivors to help prevent future tragedies.

These two new assets were shared across digital platforms and broadcast media throughout See Tracks? Think Train® Week and remain available for sharing year-round.

#STOPTRACKTRAGEDIES

See Tracks? Think Train® Week 2024 launched with a powerful lineup of initiatives aimed at reinforcing the critical importance of rail safety education. The week-long campaign began with video messages from key federal partners, the release of two new Stop Track Tragedies videos and public service announcements and a wave of official proclamations from states and municipalities nationwide.

Special thanks to Amit Bose, Administrator of the Federal Railroad Administration (FRA), Veronica Vanterpool, Deputy Administrator of the Federal Transit Administration (FTA), Sophie Shulman, Deputy Administrator of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), Joe DeLorenzo, Chief Safety Officer of the Federal Transit Administration (FTA) and Jennifer Homendy, Chair of the National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB) for video messages of support. A variety of kickoff activities delivered from coast-to-coast: Proclamations were signed in West Virginia, where Governor Jim Justice and his constant canine companion, Babydog, reinforced the importance of rail safety education, while in municipalities across the nation, dignitaries, law enforcement and OLI's State Coordinators and partners ensured the lifesaving rail safety education message reached a wider audience.

Efforts highlight a unified commitment to raising awareness and educating communities about the lifesaving message of See Tracks? Think Train®—a reminder that staying alert and making safe choices around tracks can help #STOPTrackTragedies.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 24

OPERATION CLEAR TRACK

Law enforcement agencies and first responders nationwide came together on Tuesday, September 24, to promote lifesaving rail safety education as part of Operation Clear Track (OCT)—the largest first responder single-day rail safety initiative in the United States. This coordinated effort, led by OLI and Amtrak, aimed to reduce the number of crossing and trespasser incidents. The initiative featured a two-pronged approach: in-person safety blitzes at high-risk railroad crossings where officials distributed educational materials and enforced traffic laws, alongside a robust digital campaign leveraging social media and online platforms to amplify the message. By combining physical presence with digital outreach, OCT reinforced critical safety reminders, emphasizing the importance of always making safe choices around railroad tracks and trains.

THE OPERATION CLEAR TRACK INITIATIVE SAW A 71% INCREASE IN SIGN-UPS.

Many thanks to all who participated in making OCT such a success.

CROSSING SAFETY

Wednesday's theme centered on Crossing Safety, highlighting the critical importance of making safe decisions at areas where roadways cross railroad tracks. Through a combination of public awareness campaigns, law enforcement engagement and digital messaging, the initiative reinforced essential safety practices, such as following the signs and signals, slowing down when approaching crossings and never stopping on the tracks. The campaign sought to reduce preventable incidents and save lives.

It is See Tracks? Think Train Week 2024 and the YPRHS and Toledo Public Safety want to remind everyone to utilize designated railroad crossings and to also report if there are any malfunctions at these crossings. If a railroad crossing is not working as it should, please contact the number on the posted blue sign. Please note that information is unique to each crossing and each railroad company. A huge thank you to Officer Bush for pointing out the location of this important information and for helping to spread awareness!! After contacting the railroad company and reporting the problem we encourage you to then contact local public safety as well. The Toledo NonEmergency line is 541-336-5555. For more information about how to stay safe around railroad tracks please visit oli.org or the YPRHS Museum Tuesday through Saturday 10am to 2pm!

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 26

TRANSIT SAFETY THURSDAY & PROFESSIONAL DRIVER SAFETY

Thursday's focus spotlighted transit safety and professional driver awareness, emphasizing the critical role both groups play in preventing rail-related incidents. Throughout the day, tailored messaging was shared to address the unique challenges faced by transit operators and professional drivers when navigating areas near tracks and trains.

The initiative reinforced the importance of making safe choices when sharing the roadway with and riding passenger trains.

Meanwhile, professional drivers received guidance on safely approaching crossings, adhering to warning signals and avoiding risks such as getting stuck on tracks.

Through targeted outreach efforts—both in-person and online—the campaign underscored the importance of vigilance, patience and compliance with rail safety regulations to protect lives and prevent incidents.

Last week, our own Randy Skarlupka and Jesse Smith met with Tom Domres, Railroad Safety Inspector for the FRA, as well as Special Agent Paul Bonesteel and others from the CPKC Police Service, to help chalk stencil multiple sidewalks near railroad crossings around the Winona community as part of Operation Lifesaver Inc.'s, See Tracks? Think Train® week.

Miller Ingenuity has been a proud sponsor and volunteer of OLI for many years helping promote their rail safety messaging throughout our community and across our industry. We are grateful for another opportunity to meet up with OLI volunteers to help spread these important rail safety messages!

This week the Runningboards Marketing truck will be spreading the rail safety message all around the Capitol City. Snap us a pic and post here if you see it driving by!

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 27

#REDOUTFORRAILSAFETY

On Friday, partners across the U.S. came together to celebrate the #RedOutForRailSafety initiative, a powerful visual demonstration of support for rail safety education. Participants wore red to raise awareness about the importance of rail safety and to show solidarity in the effort to help stop track tragedies.

This nationwide movement served as a unifying symbol, reinforcing the message that rail safety is a shared responsibility. Through community events, social media engagement and local outreach, the campaign encouraged individuals and organizations to take an active role in promoting lifesaving rail safety practices.

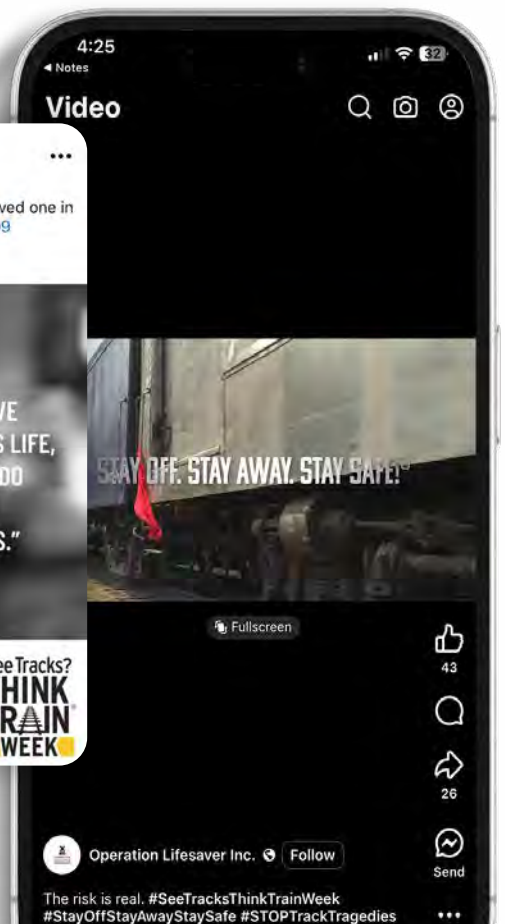

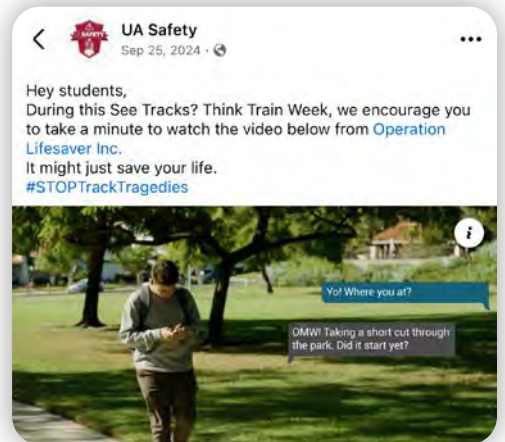

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 28

TRESPASS PREVENTION

Saturday's theme focused on trespass prevention, emphasizing the critical importance of staying off railroad tracks and railroad property. Throughout the day, a combination of educational events and social media messaging reinforced the dangers of trespassing near railways. Partners across the nation spread awareness about the necessity of staying off and away from railroad tracks. By engaging the public through outreach efforts and digital campaigns, the initiative promoted safe behaviors that can save lives.

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 29

NO PHOTO/VIDEO/SELFIE IS WORTH THE RISK

See Tracks? Think Train® Week concluded on Sunday with a powerful reminder to professional and amateur photographers, as well as social media influencers, that no photo, selfie or video is ever worth the risk. The campaign emphasized the dangers of using railroad tracks as backdrops, highlighting the potential for tragic consequences. Through social media outreach and public awareness efforts, safety advocates reinforced the rail safety education message that trains can approach faster and quieter than expected on any track, at any time, in either direction. By urging creators to choose safe locations for their work, the initiative aimed to prevent dangerous behavior and promote responsible decision-making around tracks and trains.

A GROWING RAIL SAFETY PARTNERSHIP
